Grand Prix of Germany
Sachsenring, Saturday July 17th, 2010

Ongetta Team
Qualifying report

#94 Jonas Folger (1'28"499, 11th)
5 Alexis Masbou (1'28"854, 14th)
#87 Luca Marconi (1'30"634, 27th)

Two riders in the top fifteen, for the Ongetta Team in the qualifying practice for the GP of Germany, on the twisty Sachsenring. According to Alessandro Tognelli, the team's Technical Director, we can expect a good race, tomorrow, from the team's riders.

Alessandro Tognelli (Technical Director): "Jonas did quite well both yesterday and today. He could even qualify better, but was penalised by the traffic. He's fit, the bike is OK - I'm confident in a good result, tomorrow, in the race. He can classify in the top ten. He's got everything to be there.

Masbou is having a few problems with a circuit that has a layout he does not like, but did constant progresses and finished just 0.035 seconds from his faster teammate.

Marconi could do better - I'm going to talk to him in the afternoon, to understand what slowed him down".
